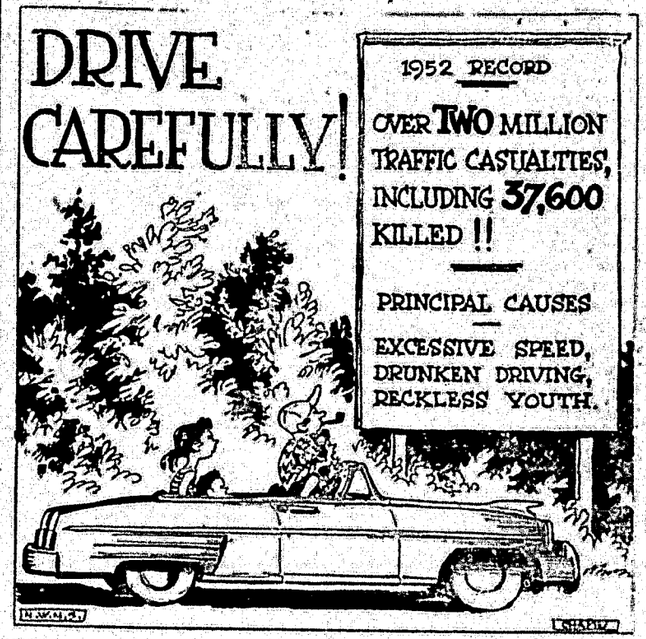
SUMMER REMINDER



NEED BLOOD DONORS AT NORWAY THURSDAY, JULY 2

Blood donors of Bethel and vicinity are urged to contact Mrs Dana Douglass Jr. or Mrs John P Howe to make appointments for the visit of the Bloodmobile at Norway on Thursday, July 2. The hours will be between 12 and 6 p. m. Persons are eligible between the ages of 21 and 59 years, or at 18 years with parent's consent.

MAINE 4-H CLUB ENROLLMENT REACHES 8,326

Four-H club enrollment in Maine reached 8,326 on June 1. This is 334 more than last year. Eleven counties have increased enrollments over a year ago, and Penobscot, Cumberland, Androscoggin-Sagadahoc, and Oxford Counties have the largest enrollments. Hancock, Knox-Lincoln, Northern Aroostook, and Central Aroostook have the largest increases in project enrollmet over 1952.

Tryouts for Little League baseball, for boys of 12 years and under, will be held Monday, June 29, at 6 p. m. at the field back of the girls' dormitory. Boys will bring gloves or mitts.

Friends of Mrs Marion Hobbs and her son and wife, Mr and Mrs Samuel Hobbs, will be glad to know that they escaped harm in the recent tornado at Worcester. The nursing home where Mrs Hobbs remains was not near the damaged section of Worcester and the path of the storm was a quarter of a mile from the home of Mr and Mrs Hobbs in Holden.

Those from Bethel attending the 33d State Legion Convention at Rockland, Thursday until Sunday, were Mr and Mrs John Compass, Mr and Mrs Raymond Dexter, Mr and Mrs Wilfred Baker, Mr and Mrs Herbert Kittredge, Mrs Frances Bennett, Mrs Hilda Donahue, Miss Laura Inman, Master Donald Baker, Maj James Lassiter, Robert Lucas, Charles P Bartlett, and Roderick McMillin.

Mr and Mrs Loton Hutchinson, Bartlett and Barbara, spent the week end at Orrs Island. While there they attended the Victory Dinner given by Jack A Rogers, District Manager of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States. Halelake, star on the Arthur Godfrey program was among the guests present. Mr Hutchinson is part time agent for the Equitable and qualified for this banquet by becoming a Merit Agent in the April campaign.

GROUND OBSERVER CORPS NEEDS VOLUNTEERS

"Our civilian Ground Observer Corps in Maine is suffering from a definite shortage of volunteers," according to Captain Ralph E Johnson, the new commander of the Bangor Filter Center.

He relieves Major John S Craig who has commanded the filter center since October of 1951. Major Craig will soon be separated from the Air Force having completed his 21-month tour of active duty.

Capt Johnson did not term the shortage "critical." However, he pointed out that less than one-third of Maine's 250 observation posts are working part-time, and only a handful are on a full-time basis.

"The key to our detection system is a bulwark of civilian volunteers who can spot low-flying planes long before they approach a target such as Boston or New York," he said.

After almost a full year of 24-hour "operation skywatch," Capt Johnson warned that the Air Force can still only expect to stop 30 percent of a determined enemy air attack.

"The Ground Observer Corps is no panacea. Air Defense is the most complex, massive problem this country as ever faced in all its implications. But due to radar's ineffectiveness at low altitudes, the ground observer will continue to play a big part in our present system."

Capt Johnson explained how an alert observer in an isolated post could warn the nation, saving countless lives in event of atomic attack. His aircraft flash call, reporting a formation of multi-motored aircraft flying over Maine, would come into the Bangor Filter Center.

There, other civilian volunteers would plot the information and pass it to the nearest radar warning station. If radar has no information on the flight, it would be labeled "unknown" and jets ordered to make an interception. Meantime, the civilian population would be warned through the Civil Defense control centers.

"Almost anyone can become a ground observer by contacting the Bangor Filter Center or his local Civil Defense Director. There are no special qualifications required, except the willingness to help protect this country by giving a couple hours a week. No knowledge of aircraft recognition is required," Capt. Johnson explained.

Dr and Mrs W H Boynton and family went to Monhegan Island Friday. They were accompanied by Mrs Rebecca Kendall and Mrs Vera Waterhouse who spent the week end there. Mrs Boynton and children will spend the summer there.

Your Opportunity

There is someone who would like to enter a clean, profitable business in Bethel. Since it is impossible for me to contact each and every person perhaps THE person who is sincerely interested will give me a chance to explain in detail without any obligation other than a real desire to get started very soon.

The Week in Oxford County

The complete contents of the home of Dr C A Stephens, Norway Lake, were sold at public sale beginning last Saturday and continuing through Wednesday. The mansion contained 43 rooms. Dr Stephens was a famous writer of children's stories. He wrote for the "Youth's Companion" for many years. The building will be torn down.

Thirty-five members of the Androscoggin Square Dance Association were entertained at East Hebron Thursday night. Henry Allen was the host.

Joseph Lovejoy of West Peru suffered a crushed hand Friday while working at the Oxford Paper Co. He was treated at the Rumford Hospital.

The home of Arthur Perry on Elm Street, Norway, was damaged by fire Sunday morning. A refrigerator and washing machine were reported destroyed. No estimate of the damage was given.

Mrs Cleora Adams of Hartford went Sunday to East Waterboro. She will serve as counselor for six weeks at "Laughing Loon" YWCA camp.

The Misses Margaret Perham, West Paris, and Joyce Klain, Norway, left recently to attend the national joint youth convention of the Universalist and Unitarian youth organization at Hanover College, Hanover, Ind.

David Winslow Field, son of Mr and Mrs Gordon S Field of Buckfield has been accepted as a member of the Camden Hills Theatre group for the coming season.

Leo Hunderup has been made executive vice-president and general manager of the South Paris pickle firm. Mr Hunderup has had may years experience as salesman, sales manager and company management.

State Widens Gilead Road

A major road improvement project is going on in Gilead, where State crews are widening Route 2 eastward from the Maine-New Hampshire line. It is expected the work will continue to a point near the farm of A R Mason & Sons. The highway will be widened to 22 feet, with four foot shoulders, and surfaced with crushed rock and asphalt.

State survey crews have been working on a relocation of Route 26 between Bethel and Locke Mills to compete the macadam surface between the home of Mrs Mary Wilson and South Bethel. It is understood that work on this will not be started this year. Surveying is also reported on a relocation east of Rumford Point to eliminate the winding road there.

Honors For Conspicuous Citizenship

About the same time that Whittaker Chambers, the Communist spy courier, was receiving top-secret documents from a high-placed U S government official named Alger Hiss, for transfer to Russian agents, Dr J B Matthews, Chief research investigator of the House Un-American Activities Committee, was delivering to the Department of Justice a confidential list of 1,124 alleged Communists, fellow-travelers and sympathizers within the federal government.

As one of the best informed men in American on the Communist conspiracy, Dr Matthews had been instructed by the House of Representatives to prepare the list. Most of our Congressmen wanted to root out the traitors and potential traitors. The House appropriated $100,000 for the Justice Department's use in further investigations of the federal employees named in the Matthews report. Yet, no effective action was taken.

Astonishing Facts

On the Matthews secret list of suspected subversives then within our government were names of a number who, years later, were to be publicly identified as important members of the conspiracy. High on the list was the name of Alger Hiss! Eight years before Whittaker Chambers exposed him to a grand jury, Dr Matthews had exposed him to Attorney General Francis Biddle. Yet Hiss remained, and was elevated to ever more influential positions in the government!

Dr Matthews was blocked by powerful men inside our government; and for 15 years he has been smeared by the Communists, their fellow-travelers, and the shallow-minded but sometimes influential dupes. But he never has quit fighting the conspirators. Until he became an investigator for the House Un-American Activities Committee, he had been one of the most popular educators on the college lecture circuit, speaking on campuses from coast to coast. When he began to fight communism he lost his popularity. In 15 years, while serving the House committee and during eight years following his resignation, he was invited to only two college campuses. I'm proud that Harding College was one of them.

His Friends Gather

A few months ago a testimonial dinner was given for Dr Matthews at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York. His friends came from all over the nation. George E Sokolsky, the columnist and commentator, was toastmaster. The guest list included such names as General Albert C Wedemeyer (the Wedemeyer Report on China); General Charles A Willoughby (General MacArthur's G-2 Chief in the Pacific); Senators Pat McCarran, W Stuart Symington, Wallace Bennett, and Joseph McCarthy; Walter Winchell, Lawrence Spivak ("Meet the Press"); Eugene Lyons, the columnist-author; Wm Randolph Hearst, Jr., the publisher; Rep Martin Dies, of Texas; Stanley High, associate editor of Reader's Digest; Matt Cvetic, who served nine years as a Communist for the FBI, and many others.

At my table were John T Flynn, the author-commentator; Alexander Barmine, former Soviet General in the Red Army Intelligence; Frank E Mason, former U S Minister to France and a number of other distinguished Americans.

James O'Neil, representing the American Legion's Americanism Commission, presented to Dr Matthews a scroll of gratitude on behalf of this great nationwide veteran's organization for his service to the nation in fighting communism; National Commander John C Coughlin, of the Catholic War Veterans, presented a similar testimonial from his organization; and Alfred Kohlberg presented one on behalf of the American Jewish League against Communism. It was my privilege to present a scroll of gratitude to Dr Matthews from Harding College, signed by nearly 400 students and faculty members. The diners presented Dr and Mrs Matthews with a beautiful silver service.

Next day I looked through the New York TIMES which I was told had a reporter at the dinner. But I found no TIMES report on this nationally significant meeting honoring one of the nation's leading fighters of internal communism. I was dumbfounded. How could an American newspaper with the coverage and standing of the TIMES consider a "courageous fighter of communism honored by nationwide organizations, to be unworthy of notice? This is a strange incident in American journalism!

DALE CARNEGIE

★ AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING" ★

WHEN Al Knowles, Middleburg, Virginia, was fired—sacked, as he says—and told to hand in his resignation, he didn't just worry; he virtually became temporarily insane. His pulse jumped to well over a hundred beats a minute, his heart was pumping like the great pumping system that sends oil from Texas to the East. His head felt three times its normal size, his temples bulged, and his mind was filled with distorted and confused ideas.

CARNEGIE

Sleep was out of the question, his eyes burned and the skin on his face felt as if a thousand pound weight was stretching it longer and longer.

Then he said to himself, "surely there is some solution to this soul wrecking problem." He picked up a book and began to read, when suddenly a rule, "How to Analyze and Solve Worry Problems," came into his line of vision. This rule seemed to fit his situation. Grasping and clinging to each word as if it were a life raft and he was lost at sea, he read and reread a wonderful chapter.

The clouds started to clear from his mind, and picking up pencil and paper, he began to write. This is what he wrote at the top of the page:

Cause: A small and trite misunderstanding between the foreman and himself.

Next: Did he want to leave that job? No.

Then he listed the advantages and the disadvantages. For every fault he wrote a good point.

Finally he wrote, "Could I get this job back?"

The decision was made and now the outcome was up to him.

He went to the foreman, made himself humble, made the foreman know how much he appreciated the opportunities offered by that job. Result? He was reinstated and the matter closed.

He says there isn't any worry in the world worth the price you must pay for it. And he believes your problem is on the way to being solved if you put it down in black and white.

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare

Misinterpretations and misunderstandings of important news events can and often do cause a great deal of trouble in the world. A recent and unfortunate example is found in Senator Taft's Cincinnati speech, which stirred up something of an international hornet's nest. Some commentators, both here and abroad, said in effect that Mr Taft had advocated a strongly isolationist "go it alone" foreign policy and had characterized the United Nations as useless, and intimated that he might have been speaking for the Administration. The uproar was so great that shortly thereafter President Eisenhower found it necessary to announce that this country wants and must have allies, and that the free world must work closely together against aggression.

Anyone who gives a close reading to the forthright Taft speech will find that the Republican leader did not say what some of the interpreters thought he said. For one thing, he did not speak for the Administration, nor did he pretend to. He spoke only for himself and, as usual, he spoke bluntly and pointedly.

Secondly, he did not suggest that the United Nations be jettisoned. He said, "I believe in the United Nations myself." But he also observed that it has not turned out to be an effective means of preventing aggression—a fact which will be appreciated by anyone who reads the papers and listens to the radio.

Thirdly, he did not come out for isolationism. Senator Taft was once pretty much of an isolationist, but the course of history caused him to change his views long ago. He did point out, however, that the anti-communist alliance in the Far East is in bad shape and must be repaired and strengthened. Again, this is obvious to anyone who reads or listens.

Perhaps the major virtue of the Taft speech was that its focus was on some tremendous problems the western world must face up to — and on policies which are highly debatable. A key paragraph in the talk said: "Is this policy of uniting the free world against Communism in time of peace going to be a practical long-term policy? I have always been a skeptic on the subject of the military practicability of NATO. I am no military expert, but I have never heard an argument that impressed me attempting to show that United States ground forces could effectively defend Europe....I have always felt that we should not attempt to fight Russia on the ground on the continent of Europe any more than we should attempt to fight China on the continent of Asia. I have always felt that defense must be undertaken by those who occupy Western Europe."

In any event, many of the commentators think that Senator Taft did a considerable public service, whether one agrees with his conclusions or not, by dealing with hard facts and avoiding wishful thinking. David Lawrence wrote: "Though there will rightly be differences with Senator Taft on certain points, especially as to the military defense of Europe, his main thesis—that we should face the realism of our times—is whole some and will be helpful in forging a strong alliance. For our allies must inevitably perceive that their failure to support wholeheartedly the American effort and purpose in the Far East can be as fatal to the principal of collective security in Europe as it has been in Asia." Dorothy Thompson, in a column given to the Taft talk, made this wise observation: "To doubt the possibility of anything that ought to be is anathema in the present climate of American opinion. But no nation ever saved itself by closing its eyes to facts."

ACROSS the DESK

Ideas from other editors

From the Pleasant Hill Times, Pleasant Hill, Mo.: It sometimes seems to us that this (editorial) column is the most expensive space in the paper. It is costly in time, because it seems to require a great lot of dilly-dallying to get it written. It costs criticism because what we say does not always please everyone. It even costs us advertising, because we are not a "good" little paper to be rewarded. It would not be true to say that we do not give a hoot, since we attach value to all these things, but we do not give enough of a hoot to quit speaking our piece, however poorly. A newspaper that never spoke its own mind would not be, to our notion, much satisfaction to publish or read.

From The Herington Advertiser-Times, Herington, Kansas: A trade bulletin recently editorialized on the shopping situation in large trade centers. It observed merchants have kept abreast with the public demand, with better stores, improved and expanded lines of merchandise and increased parking facilities. However, the bulletin said, "Competition is terrific."

The same is true, in varying degree, in thousands and thousands of American communities. And this is the reason why retailing in America has reached a peak of efficiency and service unknown abroad. That hasn't happened because merchants are any more public spirited than the rest of us. It has happened because, where competition is free and open, success and survival depend upon keeping up with the swim.

Furthermore, in this kind of a system anyone can rise to the top —there are no artificial checks on growth and progress. The small store of today becomes the great store of tomorrow. And today's great store, if it fails to meet the competition, swiftly goes down hill. The prizes go to those who honestly earn them.

From the Alma Record, Alma, Michigan: A wholly changed attitude toward the dollar is held by the Eisenhower administration compared with the attitude toward it since 1933. Now the dollar is beginning to assume some importance in its own right, instead of merely serving as a tool to accomplish some purpose of the government.

From the Greenville Advocate Greenville, Alabama: If the ladies get the "privilege" of jury service in Alabama, there will be a lot of remodeling and renovating in the court houses throughout the state. The jury rooms in the average court house are unattractive, uncomfortable, and without powder rooms. It will cost a lot of money to allow the ladies to sit on juries.

The LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

When is black not black—but white—and what can a Nation with pains in its mid-riff and all over and writhing in misery from prodigal spending and debt agony, do, is my question for solution in this day of 1953 A. D. And time is a fleetin'.

Here is what perturbs me. A Senator or Congressman in good standing in his community—upright and patriotic, he says, will let go with a ponderous speech and blast at socialism and how it has just about wrecked Europe and wherever tried and how it is unthinkable for our beloved U S A. He knows that Government ownership of about everything means whoever is left — if any — pays all the taxes. Sambo is allergic to taxes. You are allergic too, but to no avail—you pay.

Now, how are we to convince a congressman from, say, Dakota, who figures that dinero poured into a project on Salt Crick in his own State is wonderful while the same kind of Govt. ownership and fumididdles in Georgia or Alabama or elsewhere far away, is rank extravagance and socialism. I deduct that the gentleman is short on calcium in his vertebra and is not the great guy he said he was last autumn. The great ACT of lowering fool spending is turning out to be a comedy versus on the up-and-up. Comedy is great at the circus—it costs only one buck there —not 7000 million.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

WORTH REPEATING

"To help stem the tide of the 'not me' economizers, the National Association of Manufacturers is conducting a countrywide campaign urging communities to stop asking for government handouts. This effort is reported to be achieving some results. Localities already committed to federal projects in process of completion are observed to be asking for a continuance of funds with a distinctly guilty feeling." — Framingham (Mass.) News.

"The 'excess profits tax' means less meat and potatoes on workers' tables, right here in your neighborhood."—Boston Herald.

"Our opportunity for sound growth is being stifled by the so-called "Excess Profits" tax. To carry the volume of business which we are now doing, we are now borrowing $24,000,000—$20,000,000 of which is on short-term bank loans. We have to pay our engineers and our other employees wages similar to those paid by our competitors. It costs us just as many dollars to build plants and to buy machinery for expansion. But we face the fact that because of an artificial so-called 'Excess Profits' Tax, we are forced to pay 30% more tax on two-thirds of our earnings than many of our competitors; and these are larger and richer companies." — D T Schultz, Vice President, Raytheon Mfg. Company.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

Georgetown, Ill., News: "Census and private survey figures show... that places under 25,000 population account for 56 per cent of all retail outlets of the country....the smaller localities as a whole....are the big consumers of goods produced and distributed on a national scale....producers and distributors, of course, are aware of that fact."

Catskill, N. Y., Enterprise: "A witness testifying before a House Agricultural Sub-Committee, declared that....Russians have moved in with a planned 'dumping' of Russian controlled potash on our domestic market, and that Russian production is a state monopoly, paying no taxes, nor paying labor a fair wage. The communists know that destroying our economy can be more devastating than dropping a series of atomic bombs upon us. It is part of their cold war."

Denver, Colo., Record Stockman: "The American Meat Institute is to be complimented on its research on fats and experiments which may enlarge the market for fat. Experiments have shown that feed rations containing fat will speed growth, improve quality, bring greater feed efficiency and have greater palatability....Maybe our cattle as well as our population will eat us out of the present market situation—thanks to research."

Scanning the News

AS THIS is being written the world capitals are reporting that a truce in Korea is but a matter of hours. The world is anxious that this bloody contest that has already cost 2,300,000 casualties and billions of dollars be terminated.

This truce, if it becomes a reality, is going to cause an explosion in Washington. A number of congressmen are already taking another look at legislation, especially tax legislation, and are likely to push for immediate reductions although such a move is opposed by the Treasury Department and, possibly, the President.

Four Republicans on the influential Ways and Means Committee of the House are already insisting that a saving of five billion dollars could be passed on to the people if Korean hostilities end.

One member of the committee said: "In view of the excellent prospects for a truce in Korea I see no sense whatever in continuing these hearings. We ought to drop them and end all talk of extending the excess-profits tax."

This is just a foretaste of what a truce in Korea may bring in the congress of the United States.

● Another problem that is facing congress and holds a number of pitfalls and possible danger for the Republican party is what to do with the huge crop surpluses owned by the government.

At the present time the government holds 29 commodities in its inventory. These are valued at $1,705,526,000. Three-quarters of the amount is in corn and wheat stored in elevators and warehouses in various parts of the country.

As these surpluses continue to accumulate the need of a solution to the problem becomes more pressing. Whatever road the Republican administration decides to follow—and decide it must—holds many dangers, especially in the election of next year.

These seem to be the only choices available to the Eisenhower administration and congress at the moment:

1. Support prices while limiting production by federal edit.

2. Support prices without limiting production, which might mean more and more government-owned stocks.

3. Let prices fall and farm commodities seek their natural price level under supply and demand.

4. Come up with a farm program with wholly new ideas for price supports.

These, certainly, are dangerous selections.

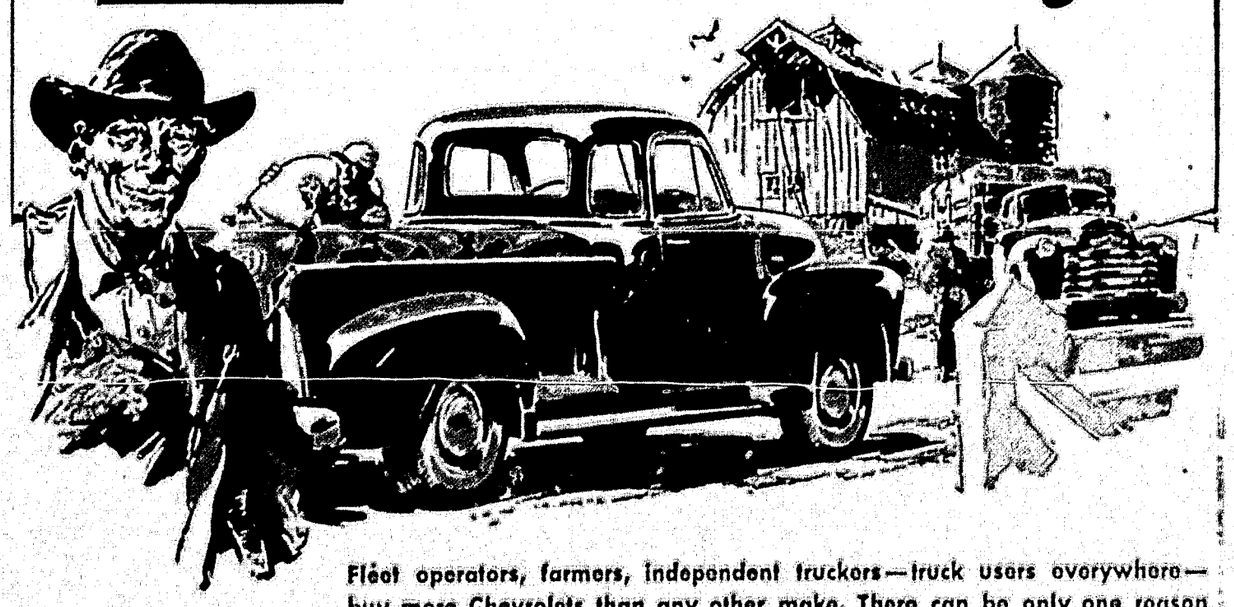
There's only one answer...
Chevrolet trucks must be the best buy!



Fleet operators, farmers, independent truckers—truck users everywhere—buy more Chevrolets than any other make. There can be only one reason for that: Chevrolet trucks offer more of what you want.

CHEVROLET
first in demand in value in sales

As the official registration figures keep rolling in, they keep telling the same positive story about truck popularity and truck value: Again in 1953, for the twelfth straight production year, truck buyers show a clear-cut and decisive preference for Chevrolet trucks.

If you're a truck user, this fact is mighty important to you. Why? Well, as you know, trucks are built and bought for just one reason—to do a job. So isn't it logical then that since Chevrolet trucks outsell all others, they must do a better job at lower cost?

That's why it will pay you to stop in and see us before you buy your next truck.

MORE CHEVROLET TRUCKS IN USE THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!

Thursday, June 25

For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places. (Ephesians 6:12.) Read Ephesians 6:11-20.

TRULY, in this world today we struggle against the powers of darkness. Our great nation founded upon faith in God is attacked by godlessness from without and from within.

In our own country, communist aggression is only part of the threat. Greater to be feared are the corruption and materialism that have seeped into our public and private lives. We shall remain strong as a people only as long as we put on the whole armor of God. A nation cannot worship God and mammon.

As a people have the courage to wield the sword of the spirit in their own souls, so can they demand spiritual strength in national leadership—and morality in high places. Thus only can a nation aspire to Christian leadership among all nations. With prayer and supplication, we ask God to help us to strive for that peace which only He can give.

Prayer

Heavenly Father, grant us strength and courage as individuals and as nations. Restore our faith. Give us Thy Leadership that we may be guided in the paths of righteousness, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Thought For The Day

"For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"

—Edward Martin, Lawyer (Pennsylvania)

LABOR FORCE TO INCREASE 10% BY 1960

An estimate that it will take more than one billion dollars in additional investments to put New England's 110,000 school children to work in the 1960's has been made by the National Association of Manufacturers.

An NAM survey of 12 leading industrial cities in New England showed that the labor force will have increased more than 10 percent by 1960.

The tremendous jump in the national birth rate in the 1940's is now jamming New England school facilities. The school children of today will be seeking jobs in the 1960's and these jobs must be made available through expanded industrial facilities.

It takes, on the average, $12,000 to provide a single job and NAM estimates that $1,320,000,000 will have to be invested in order to provide the jobs needed for today's school children.

That money, NAM says, must be freed for investment through drastic reductions in federal government spending and immediate tax relief.

IN MEMORIAM

Of Pvt Philip William Daye

In sad and loving memory of our son and brother who was killed in action in Myitkyina, Burma, July 1, 1944

There is still an ache in our hearts today
That countless years will not take away
A place in our hearts that nothing can fill
We miss you dear son and always will

Treasured memories of one so dear
Are often recalled by a silent tear
Dearer to memory than words can tell
Was the one we lost and loved so well

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father has called to her eternal home, Sister Frances Davis be it resolved that Bear River Grange while bowing to the will of the Great Master, recognize His Love and Wisdom in removing our beloved sister from her years of illness.

That we be mindful of her cheerful personality which for many years radiated happiness in her home and among all her associates.

That we strive to emulate those virtues of true womanhood which characterized the life of our departed sister.

That these resolutions be inscribed in our grange records and that copies be sent to the family of the deceased and to the Bethel Citizen for publication.

BEAR RIVER GRANGE

Bear River Grange held its regular meeting Saturday night June the 20th, preceded by a 6:30 supper in charge of Lilian Coolidge and Edith Thurston. This was our "Conservation" meeting and our guest speaker was Fred Nutter, Commission of Agriculture. Sister Carrie French was present and as it was the day before her birthday she was presented with a birthday card and cake by friends.

Our next meeting will be a special meeting July 10 in place of the regular one which comes July 4th. We have an invitation to West Paris Grange June 27th and one to Alder River Grange July 3rd. Both invitations were accepted and all will go who can. One new name was received and referred to an investigating committee. The meeting of July 18 will be degree work.

There were visitors present from Lone Mt Grange, Alder River Grange, Aziscoos Grange and Methuen Grange, Massachusetts. The hall was decorated with baskets of mock orange blooms. Several made remarks for the good of the order. Flint Moger, who goes to school in New York was with us again and made remarks.

Program was as follows: Song by members, Work for the Nite Is Coming; The Youth Committee chairman presented the Juvenile Matron Peggy Blake with seven gowns for the Juvenile Grange for degree work which was a big surprise to the Matron; Reading, Grandma's lost pocketbook, by Mrs Olson of Aziscoos; Reading, Bells! by Emily Thurston of Lone Mt. Grange; Song, In the Garden; Mr Nutter spoke on conservation; A silver march brought in 11.66 toward our redecorating fund which we hope to close this month. Anyone who would like to donate anything can contact either Nellie Hodsdon or Alma Whitman, and it will be greatly appreciated; Reading by Worthy Master E L Holt; Song, Glory to the Steel, members. There were 68 members present.

Our next meeting will be a legislative meeting July 10, Friday night. There will be no 6:30 supper. Meeting closed in form.

BODWELL - GLINES

Andover Congregational Church was the scene of a pretty June wedding when Sally Evangeline Glines, daughter of Mr and Mrs David Glines, became the bride of Paul Robinson Bodwell, son of Mr and Mrs Ira Bodwell, all of Andover, Sunday afternoon, June 14, at 3 o'clock. Rev Charles Pendleton of Bethel and Mrs Easter Peters officiated.

Gladiola, evergreen and candles were used extensively through the church for special decorations.

The organist, Ivy Thurston, played the traditional wedding marches and "Largo," "Because," "O Promise Me," and "I Love You Truly."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Herschel Glines, was attended by Mrs Kathleen Glines Dyer, her sister, who served as matron of honor, and Philena Crooker, who was bridesmaid.

Neal Bodwell, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Clarence B Dyer and Allen Bodwell, a cousin of the bridegroom.

The bride was gowned in a ballerina length dress of white satin and lace with an overskirt of net. It was fashioned with lace bolero, her gown having a fitted bodice buttoned to the neck and long pointed sleeves. Her nylon veil fell from a lace cap trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses. The matron of honor wore an orchid taffeta gown and lace bolero and an orchid picture hat. She carried yellow carnations. The bridesmaid's gown was fashioned as the maid of honor's except that it was yellow. She carried pink carnations.

The bride's mother wore a dress of blue and green figured silk complemented by white accessories and a corsage of red roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of turquoise nylon, white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

A wedding reception followed the ceremony on the lawn of the Sam Poor estate. In the receiving line were the bride and groom, the bride's mother, the bridegroom's parents, the best man, matron of honor and bridesmaid.

At the punch bowl were Marilyn Adams and Dorothy Merrill; Jean Bodwell served the wedding cake which had been made by the bride's aunt, Mrs Herschel Glines, and decorated by Mrs Roland Glines, after the first piece was cut by the bride and groom. Mrs Roland Glines and Mrs Stephen Hoey were in charge of the gift room; Dorothy Knox, the guest book.

The couple left later in the day for a motor trip along the Atlantic Coast, the bride travelling in a light blue suit with white accessories and pink rose corsage. They will make their home in Bethel.

The bride was born in Rumford and moved to Andover when a youngster. She is a graduate of Andover high school and the Eastern Academy of Beauty Culture in Bangor. She is employed as a beautician in Bethel.

The bridegroom was born in Andover where he attended school and was graduated from Andover high school. He served two years in the U S Army Air Force, and is now employed in Bethel.

"Maine has broad, level acres which can be easily reclaimed and put to work to meet the challenge of steadily increasing United States population, the challenge of more mouths to feed," says Fred J Nutter, Maine commission of agriculture.

Bethel CALSO Station

I am glad to report that since the spraying of the town, very few bugs have shown up at this place to rest. It could be that it is going to do some good in killing the moths that have been quite prevalent this spring.

I wish to take this opportunity to warn the public that there is a rumor that the price of gas is going to take another big jump. I can say this about it and that is that we, the service station operators, do not want to see this any more than the general public but the gas companies figure that this is a time to make a killing I guess even though they disagreed and fought a price rise a month ago.

Lubrication — Only when I have to. That time has come.
WHEEL BALANCING — A questionable job at a low price.
Washing — Only on cars now.
Exide Batteries — Some very good buys there.
PHONE 218 — It works occasionally.

TINY—but important beyond words!

Each year thousands of insignificant-looking fires—low, slow-burning ones—creep through the grass or brush-covered floors of our forests and woods. They don't often kill the big trees. They seem to do little or no damage.

There's just one catch.

Down in that grass and brush are tiny trees—the future woods and forests of America—the timber that your children will urgently need in the years to come. Fire kills these small trees.

Yes, it is mighty important that we prevent those "insignificant" fires. For they are forest fires, too... just as destructive, just as costly.

For America, for your children, please be careful—extra careful—with matches, smokes, campfires. Think of those tiny trees... hidden in the grass.

Remember—only you can PREVENT FOREST FIRES!

BETHEL BLASTS DIXFIELD, 9-1 ON LOSERS' FIELD SUNDAY

The Bethel A. C. journeyed to Dixfield Sunday afternoon and behind the steady hurling of the veteran Bob Buker racked up its first victory of the Pine Tree League season.

Bob Croteau paced the winner's attack with three hits, including a home run and a triple. Gene White Carl Merrill, Duke Boyd and Bob Buker each collected two hits apiece. Bobby Croteau nipped budding Dixfield rallies in the sixth and seventh frames as he picked over-ambitious baserunners off first base with accurate pegs.

Bethel 10—Fryeburg 4

A game but inexperienced Fryeburg team lost to Bethel last Saturday at Thurston Field. Onofrio, Bowers, Batherson, Rolfe, White, Murphy, Downs, Boudreau, Farren, Roberts, Stimans, Buckman, Chase, Taylor and Legere played for the local team. Three pitchers: Buckman, Stimans and Legere were used by the local team and two catchers, Roberts and Taylor. Jim Murphy lifted a long home run over the left field fence. Howie Rolfe coached the team, Tubby Willard was scorer.

Bethel 7—South Paris 6

Bethel played South Paris for the league leadership last night and won behind the pitching of Rolfe and Buckman. The contest was an exciting one in which a game South Paris nine overcame an early Bethel lead and scored 6 runs in the seventh to tie the score. In this inning, Rolfe was injured when a ball he was fielding hit a pebble in front of the mound and struck him in the face. Buckman came in in relief and pitched excellent ball. In the extra inning Chase drove Onofrio home with the winning run. A good crowd turned out to see the boys in their new uniforms.

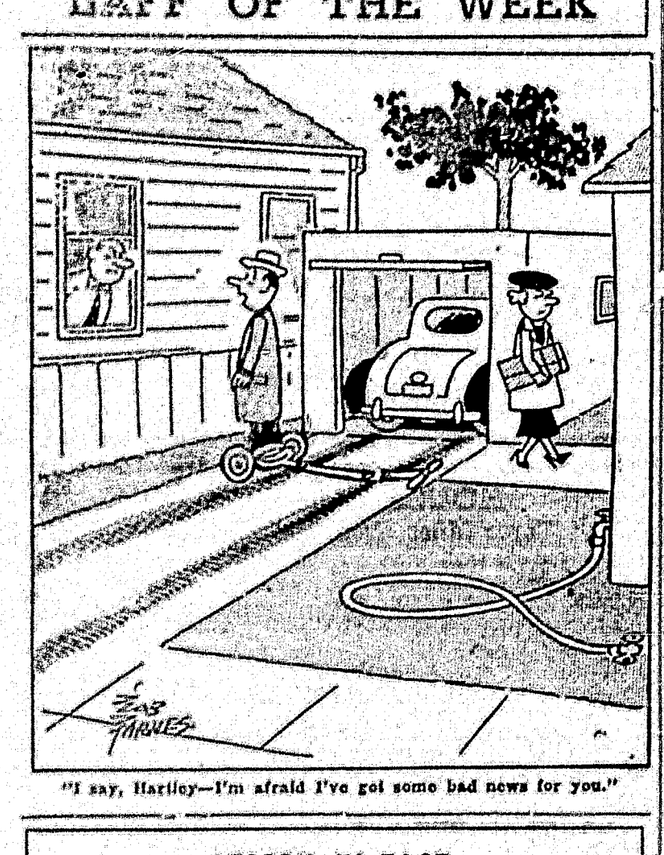
LAFF OF THE WEEK



"I say, Hartley—I'm afraid I've got some bad news for you."

LESSON IN TACT

By Lealon Martin

"EVERYBODY knows she's cranky!" Mary Blair, society editor, circulation manager, and office force of the News told her boss when the ruffled caller had departed.

"Even so, Miss Blair," Howard Rankin said, "perhaps you could be, er, less positive."

"All I did was show her the carbon of the subscription order she'd signed. Anyhow, she paid up She still wants the paper."

"She seemed very angry."

"She always does. Last year, the year before. Next year, too, probably." Mary went back to her desk.

Six months earlier, Howard Rankin had been an assistant professor of economics at the state university. Making a survey of the state's newspapers, he found his interest in journalism so great that he had given up teaching, was now the proud owner and editor of the Centreville News.

With the paper he had inherited Mary Blair, twenty-two and redheaded. She was vaguely disturbing. As efficient a person as she should not be also pretty.

"Why don't you run on, Miss Blair," he said, noting that she was still at work past closing time. "I want to finish this editorial on mass hysteria for my series. I'll stay on."

"Okay But look, I'd soft pedal that. Some folks think you're on the wrong track."

"I prefer to complete the series I'm not afraid."

"That's not the point," Mary said, leaving.

By seven thirty he was through and reading over the editorial when the office door swung slowly open A grim man in overalls stalked in, a blue-barrelled pistol dangling in one hand.

"I have come for you," the figure said.

"Er, there must be some mistake," Howard managed.

"No mistake. You the new editor, ain't you? Been writing about hys . . hyst . . folks being crazy. Now, I'm gonna . . ."

"'Scuse me, folks!" said a cheery voice. "Forgot my bag," Mary added, breezing past to her desk.

"Why, it's Mr. Hough!" she said, "and you're showing Mr. Rankin how to shoot. How nice! Mr. Hough was the best pistol shot in his regiment in the Spanish-American War."

"Evenin', Miss' Mary. Naw, jus' Company 'B'," the man said.

"Isn't this lucky!" Mary said. "You see, Mr. Hough, Mr. Rankin had just this afternoon asked me to see you."

"What!" Howard started, then caught on. "Yes . . . yes," he gulped.

"He wanted to have me talk to someone who knows all about the Army and keeps up with things, and we thought you'd be about the best one to talk to."

"Uh, well, I don't know 'bout that." The old man grinned, bashfully, shoving the gun down into a pocket.

"Will you excuse us, Mr. Rankin?" said Mary. "Just step in here, Mr. Hough, please." She led him into the outer office.

Twenty minutes later, Howard's nose came cautiously through the door when he heard, "Goodbye, Mr. Hough, and thank you."

"Has he gone?"

Mary smiled and nodded, and he saw that her head came to just above his shoulder, that her eyes were a warm, deep brown.

"Forgive me," he said, "for lecturing you on tact. And thanks a million, Miss . . thank you, Mary."

"That's all right . . Howard," she said. "Mr. Hough's really a nice old man. He has spells, but he's harmless if you know how to handle him. Oh, here's something for you."

She offered a slip of paper. He read quickly, then looked at Mary, standing very near Their eyes caught and smiled.

The slip read: "Centreville News Subscription Order. Please send me the News for one year from date. Signed: Elmer Hough."

WEST BETHEL

— Mrs. Ruth Gilbert, Corres. —

Mr and Mrs Frederick Lovejoy of West Bethel were honor guests at a surprse party at the Pleasant Valley Hall Sunday evening. The party was in observance of their 37th wedding anniversary.

A program was presented as follows: Wedding March, played by Mrs Bernard Rolfe; Poem "A Greeting," written by Mrs Addie Kendall Mason was read by Mrs Lawrence Lord; Two Songs, "Chapel In the Moonlight" and "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You" were sung by Miss Janice Lord and Donald Lord, accompanied by Mrs Lawrence Lord.

Refreshments including a wedding cake were served by Mrs Kenneth Lovejoy, Miss Jean Ferren, Mrs Carroll Abbott and Mrs Clarence Rolfe.

Mrs Alfred Lovejoy had charge of the guest book and Mrs Cleveland Lovejoy the gift table.

There were 83 guests present including Rollin Dinsmore of Norway and Mrs Marjorie Foster of East Waterford who attended Mr and Mrs Lovejoy on their wedding day.

Out of town guests were Norway, Mr and Mrs Reginald Dinsmore, Mr and Mrs Rollin Dinsmore, Mrs Florence Westleigh, Mrs Harry Jackson, and Mrs Verna Millett; South Paris, Dana Berry, Mrs Norma Tirrell and Miss Fern Tirrell; Bryant Pond, Mr and Mrs Homer Farnum; Bethel, Mrs Lawrence Lord, Miss Janice Lord, and Donald Lord.

Mr and Mrs Roger Thibeault, of Brunswick, and Mr and Mrs Byron Abbott, South Portland, were guests of Mr and Mrs Carroll Abbott, Sunday.

"Certainly no sound basis exists for tax reduction unless expenditures are drastically reduced. On the other hand, much of the necessary incentive to carry through on expenditure reductions will be lost unless such reductions are going to be reflected in tax cuts pretty promptly."—Beverly (Mass.) Times.

MAGALLOWAY

— Mrs. Bessie Harvey, Corres. —

The bridal shower given Miss Lorraine Lazotte at Big Buck Camps on last Wednesday evening was well attended and she had many beautiful gifts. The decorations were lovely and a nice lunch of sandwiches, cake and coffee was served.

Mrs Mabel Cameron, Mrs Clinton Bennett and Mrs Catherine Bragg went to Durham, N. H., Monday June 22. Mrs Bragg took her son, Wendall, there to attend a 4-H convention for four days.

Mark Harvey is operating a bulldozer at Camp Number 5 at Parmachenee.

Quite a few salmon and trout are being caught at the lakes and ponds near here but the black flies and mosquitoes are much more plentiful than the fish.

Two large panthers were seen between Winslow Linnell's residence and "Twin Gables" last Wednesday night. They have also been seen near the Diamond River.

The new minister, Mr Hoover, held his first service at the Magalloway Church Sunday, June 21st. There was a good attendance. He and his wife are both very nice and he is a very good speaker.

Mr an Mrs George Stranger were guests of her grand-parents, Mr and Mrs Fred Bennett last week.

Mr and Mrs Alton Fogg and daughter, Rachel, were also their guests over the week end.

CAMERON - LAZOTTE

Miss Lorraine Lazotte and Emery Cameron were married at Errol, N. H. Saturday night, June 20 at 2 p. m. by the Rev George Duke. She is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Telos Lazotte of Errol and he is the son of Mr and Mrs Ewen Cameron of Magalloway.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her sister, Mrs Arnold Bennett was matron-of-honor and Eric Cameron, the brother of the groom was best man. Mrs Zilla Thurston was the organist.

The bride was lovely in a green suit with white hat, gloves and shoes. Her corsage was of white orchids and ferns. It was a double ring service. The wedding was in the church and the reception in the church vestry. There was a nice lunch and they had many gifts.

When farm problems come up, Maine farmers just naturally turn to their county agents of the Extension Service. If the county agents can't answer the problems themselves, they know someone who can.

THIS WEEK IS OUR

5th Anniversary

Bethel Red & White

We are not having a sale and we have nothing to give away. We're happy, but we're not having a celebration.

It has been nice to have served you these past five years and we hope to continue in the same manner.

Here Is A Re-Statement of Our Policy:

We believe in buying high quality merchandise and we know that some of the best foods in the Nation are produced in Maine. Therefore as an Independent Grocery, being able to do as we please, we buy as much as we can from local farms and producers. Here are a few of the many items that we have purchased locally during the past 5 years.

6,000 pecks of potatoes — 8,000 pounds dry beans

15,000 pounds of poultry — 36,000 quarts of milk

23,500 dozen eggs — 8,500 pounds of veal

500 bushels of apples

Fruits, vegetables and berries in season

PRESERVE fresh green colors in vegetables by cooking without the cover. Some vitamin loss will occur, but short cooking can prevent much of this, and vegetable will be eaten if it's more attractive.

Freshen cold baked potatoes for a second meal by dipping in cold water and then place in a moderate oven until heated through.

Use fresh drippings to season your cooked vegetables if you're trying to save on butter. More salt and pepper may be needed for next day servings.

Stale vegetables are freshened if they're soaked in cold water to which lemon juice is added. Don't soak too long, however, or food values may be lost.

Cabbage and cauliflower should be washed carefully to prevent any worms from lodging in the vegetable. If placed in cold, salted water for a short time before cooking, worms can be drawn out.

Recipe of the Week
Cream Cole Slaw
(Serves 6)

2 hard-cooked egg yolks
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon vinegar
½ cup sweet or sour cream

Rub the yolks of the hard-cooked eggs through a sieve, then rub smooth with a spoon. Add seasoning, then vinegar. Next add cream slowly, beating until smooth. Add cabbage and blend lightly.

Mashed potatoes should be as light and fluffy as it's possible to make them. Older potatoes should be boiled in water to which some milk and lemon juice is added to prevent darkening: Use hot milk in which butter is melted to make them fluffy.

Strings from green beans should be removed to prevent them from being tough. Pour boiling water on the beans before cutting and the string comes off readily.

Combine leftovers of vegetables to achieve colorful triumphs like peas or corn in scooped-out beets, lima beans in squash nests, carrots in green pepper, spinach molded in rings for creamed onions and cauliflower with pimiento strips.

"The balance in cost, price and income relationships will be sounder and the situation therefor stronger if the benefits of increasing productivity in cutting costs go to no one group, but to all groups, which means that they should be fairly shared among workers, owners and users of the product."—National City Bank of N. V. A. NEWSLETTER

Severely disabled vectrans receiving compensation from the Veterans Administration should notify VA promptly of any change in the number of their dependents, advises M L. Stoddard, Manager, Veterans Administration Center, Togus, Maine.

Veterans with disability ratings of 50% or more are entitled to additional allowance for wives, minor children and dependent parents, to cast somewhat their financial burden.

For example, a veteran rated 50% disabled, whose disability was incurred during wartime and was adjudge service-connected, may be eligible for the following monthly allowances from VA, in addition to his regular 50% compensation: if he has a wife but no children, $1050; wife and one child $1750; wife and two children, $2275; wife and three or more children, $21 With no wife but one minor child, he would get $ 00 extra; no wife but two minor children, $1225; no wife but three o' more children, $1575

The same veteran, if he has dependent parents, would be entitled to $175 a month for each, in addition to the above amounts

Dependency allowance rates for veterans with more than 50% disability are higher VA allows veterans injured in peacetime service the same benefit, but only on the basis of 50% of the wartime rate for the same degree of disability

To qualify for the additional amounts, veterans must provide VA with satisfactory evidence or relationship and, in the case of parents, proof of dependency. Veterans filing claims for the first time may furnish this evidence at the time of filing, and in this case payments are made from the date the claim is effective. Otherwise, payments start on the date that proof of relationship and dependency is received by VA

Stoddard emphasized that veterans should waste no time informing VA of a blessed event, or any other change in the family group which affects the amount of compensation to which they are entitled

This financial assistance goes only to veterans receiving disability compensation for service-connected ailments Recipients of non-service-connected ailments Recipients of conservice connected pension are not eligible for any aid for dependents

My PET PEEVE
By W. Scott Boyd

I have never liked driving an automobile. It's much more pleasant to ride along and look at the scenery. As a result, I have campaigned for years to get the wife to learn. In turn she has objected. First that she is too short. But I convinced her that five feet in her high heels is tall enough.

Then she said she wasn't strong enough. Ninety-eight pounds packs a great big wallop. I told her and her on the back of the neck.

agreed to learn and we marched out to the driveway.

Once she was in the car and behind the wheel I began to point out and name each part of the automobile.

"This, as you know," says I, "is the steering wheel. This is the ignition switch, this the handbrake, this is the accelerator, this the light switch."

On and on it went. I showed her how to put the car in neutral, set the hand brake, turn the switch and release it so the motor would start, how to press in the clutch and shift gears. "Now," says I, "tell me how to do it."

"Well," says she, "you pull out this 'thing' until its stuck so the car won't move, you neutralize this 'gadget,' turn this 'gizmo' which starts engine, pull this 'thingamajig' up and down so its in spot number one, release the 'thing' that stuck the car in the first place, and let out on that 'pedal' How am I doing?"

"Great," says I. "Driving school at the high school is held every morning from 9 to 10 Move over and I'll drive you down to enroll."

GOULD ACADEMY, 1933, HOLDS REUNION AT BETHAVEN INN

The class of 1933, Gould Academy, held a reunion dinner at Bethaven Inn on Sunday, June 14, Commencement Day. Twenty-one adults and 10 children were present. In the afternoon the group visited the Gould campus. For next year it was decided to meet the Sunday of graduation week end at Norris Brown's camp, Songo Pond, everyone to bring his own lunch. The classes of 1930, '31, '32, and '34 are to be invited to meet with the class of 1933. No form letters will be sent out but notices will appear in the newspapers and those who attended this year will help spread the news.

Those present were: Phyllis Bartlett Bowley, Harrison; Barbara and Norris Brown and Susan, Bethel; Polly and Wilbur Myers, Bethel; Dorothy and Stanton Horne and two children, Dixfield; Clayson Glover, Rosalie and Larry, Dummer, N H.; Mr and Mrs Clifton Jackson, Bethel; Edith Kirk Robertson and three children, Rockwood; Mr and Mrs Cyril McNally, Littleton, N. H.; Daniel and Rosalie Wight, Kevin and Eric, Rumford, Mr and Mrs George Wight, Upton; Mr and Mrs James Stevens, Edith and Elizabeth, East Boothbay.

Maine strawberries are beginning to come to market. They make delicious and nutritious eating, says Dr Kathryn Briwa, Extension Service foods specialist. The strawberry is second to none for eating with cream, on shortcakes, in or on ice cream, or eating out of hand. Freezing strawberries is easy. Complete directions may be found in Extension Bulletin 420, "Preparing Foods for the Home Freezer." It's free from county offices of the Extension Service.

§ THE AMERICAN WAY §
Illinois Leads the Way
By Willis E. Stone

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Willis E. Stone is author of the "Proposed 23rd Amendment" and President of the American Progress Foundation, Los Angeles.)

The people of Illinois, under the terms of Illinois Senate Joint Resolution No. 13 adopted May 6, 1953, took formal steps to outlaw the practices of socialism and regain our lost economic freedoms.

The socialists have had their day. They have invaded our enterprises, taken over our properties and forced us to hand over our wealth for every socialistic scheme.

Finally the American people are awakening to the danger. Not only are we becoming aroused, but we are forging the weapons by which we can fight back. Illinois S J Res. No. 13 is such a weapon. It has teeth in it.

This Resolution politely, but firmly, petitions the Congress of the United States to propose to the people an amendment to the Constitution of the United State or to call a convention for such purpose as provided by law, to add to the Constitution an article providing substantially as follows:

"The Government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial, financial or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution."

This is a direct demand. It is in exact compliance with the methods prescribed by the Fifth Article of the Constitution, which specifies that similar action by two-thirds of the States forces the Congress to either submit this question for ratification or call a convention for proposing amendments.

Are you wondering why the States are taking the lead? The answer is simple. According to the original design of our nation, we were a union of States and the Federal Government serves the States of the Union.

In recent years, however, administrators of the Federal Government have tried to evade these restraints and restrictions. They wanted to grow and expand, so they ignored the intent and purpose of the Constitution and began to assert new and extraordinary powers.

The first federal invasion of the States occurred in 1917 when the Department of the Interior refused private enterprise the right to build a powerhouse and nitrate plant on the Tennessee River at the little town of Muscle Shoals, Alabama.

By this action the Federal Government reversed all our history and opened the door to socialization. Government pretended it could do it better than private enterprise and alleged that, because of the war, the Constitutional relations between the Federal Government and the people had somehow changed.

This was the "toe-in-the-door" technic. With this start, and moving as swiftly as public resistance would permit, the process has expanded and become the playground for the wildest corruption in our history.

Finally, when the evils of Muscle Shoals became intolerable, the bureaucrats proposed that it be corrected by the amazing device of a change in name. It became the Tennessee Valley Authority, as corrupt as ever, but protected by a billion dollar propaganda.

We are a gullible people. We have continued, year after year, to permit the bureaucrats to raid our properties and enteprises. Recently we began to wake up and count the cost of our flirtation with socialism.

We found 88 federal corporations whose losses and hidden costs took almost half of every tax dollar. This meant that in such a year as 1950, the taxpayers were forced to pay more than $10 billion to finance this socialistic attack upon us.

Then it was learned that the Interior Department had the map drawn and the plan arranged by which all State governments would be eliminated, and be replaced by nine regional authorities, each managed by three commissioners with total and absolute powers.

The people began to wake up. They elected a new administation last November. There has been a steady change in trend since then.

This is all to the good, but it does not end the danger. Socialism is far advanced. The Federal Government now owns about 40 percent of the land area and 20 percent of the industrial capacity of the nation.

We need to sound the alarms, when government assumes unlimited powers. Why then do we not specify the functions of government and thus end the danger of socialism, reclaim the ancient and traditional rights of the states and the individuals, and cut the tax burden to the minimum.

Illinois has shown the way! We should all take up the torch of freedom and make this a main issue of public discussion in every area. Freedom must be won or it cannot be enjoyed.
